Pentecost

“The Advocate, the Holy Spirit whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.” (John 14:26)

The materialism of our society lures us to concentrate more on what we want than on what God wants for us. The relativism of our world tells us that we should be tolerant of all things, that there is no absolute truth. Pray to the Holy Spirit to transform our lives and to guide our thoughts, words and actions. What you put in your mind, heart, and soul affects your actions. Put good things in and good things will come out.

Support for the Retired Diocesan Priests

Who Served Us Faithfully

Next Sunday, we will celebrate Father's Day by giving gifts, affirmation and affection for our fathers, grandfathers, and priests.

Please express your gratitude for our retired diocesan priests by supporting the Father's Day Collection. Our retired priests made a commitment to serve The Diocese of Crookston in your parish. Your continued generosity to the Father's Day Collection ensures that we can keep our promise to provide for the needs of our retired priests, including Medicare supplement premiums and continuing education. Thank you! Scan the code with your camera or give on-line at <https://www.crookston.org/fathers-day-collection>

Anyone in the Parish who works directly with our Youth must be current in Safe Environment Certification. Please go to the Diocese's Website to complete training:
www.crookston.org/secertification

Please take note that there is construction going on in Warroad on Dairy Queen and Car lot corner, to turn onto Cedar Avenue, this route is closed.

Stage 2: Cedar Ave. closed during construction

A Conversation Between Friends

Relatedly, when you pray, you must also listen with attention. Obviously, a conversation between friends cannot be a one-way street. If all you ever did was talk to a friend, he wouldn't be your friend very long. Far too often, we think of prayer as simply talking to God. It is indeed, but it is also taking the time to listen to him- both breathing out and breathing in.

Some people in our tradition have heard the voice of God in a physical or quasi physical way- we could cite the many examples from the Scriptures and the great tradition, such as Mother Teresa's experience of hearing the voice of Jesus- but God speaks this clearly and unambiguously only very rarely indeed. Normally, God delights in speaking indirectly. It might be through reading the Scriptures or listening to a liturgical song; It might be in Eucharistic Adoration or during the Mass. Feelings of consolation or desolation, a sense of the whole body relaxing and finding peace, the arrival of an insight about a particular problem or of a memory of someone from whom we've grown distant- all of these can be carriers of the divine word, routes by which God communicates with us sometimes with an extraordinary power and clarity, from beyond ourselves.

Sometimes, in prayer, we can even legitimately imagine what God would say to us in response to a question or a communication. This can be dangerous, of course, insofar as it begins to resemble a psychological projection. But based on our knowledge of God from the Bible and the tradition, this imaginative exercise can be another way of discerning the voice of God.

Finally, one of the most important though underrated features of prayer is silence. When Mother Teresa spoke of prayer, the first thing she mentioned was silence: "The fruit of silence is prayer; The fruit of prayer is faith; The fruit of faith is love; The fruit of love is service; The fruit of service is peace." We have a very noisy culture; We are constantly stimulating ourselves with words and ideas, talking and listening to each other all the time. Do we sit in silence, allowing God to speak in that space?

Think here of the prophet Elijah in 1st Kings who on mount Horeb, does not hear God in the wind, the earthquake, or the fire, but rather in a sound of sheer silence. So it still is. How can you hear the voice of God unless you become silent? When the noises subside, the Voice can be heard. Think, too, of how many religious orders- the Carthusian order founded by Saint Bruno for example- are predicated upon this discipline. Most of us can't be Carthusians, but we can learn a lot from their attitude of radical devotion to silence.

Thomas Aquinas speaks of the two basic moves of the will: to seek the absent good and to savor the present good, resting in it in a kind of silence. We're rather skilled at the first but not the second: once we have the good, we restlessly go on to something else. When you have the good of God, a silent savouring of that good is key; That, too, is part of prayer. Notice how old friends can spend a good amount of time together without speaking- and the better their friendship, the longer and more comfortable their silence.

So, when it comes to prayer, take the time; speak with honesty; listen with attention; and enter into silence. Your friendship with God depends on it!

The preceding is an excerpt from Bishop Barron's book An Introduction to Prayer.
